Strong Man Canada Says We're Mad at Her

When Chicago's 50-pound gorilla, Mr. Bushman, fell ill a crowd of 120,000 persons visited the Lincoln park zoo last Sunday. Non-residents are reminded that the Windy City always did have a special curiosity — and tolerance — for gorillas. But they were not.

Mr. Bushman is no gun-toter. He's boss man of the jungle, locked up in a cage to these many years for civilized animals to stare at.

But now Mr. Bushman, at 22, is old and ailing. Yesterday's AP dispatch from Chicago mentions arthritis and a bad heart.

The Lincoln park zoo says he still has a chance if they can find some special food — watermelons, for one, which they'll find of course; and the other is guavas, a small tropical fruit, which is a sight tougher to locate. They think maybe they can find some Florida — for Mr. Bushman.

You've got to hand it to Chicago — this isn't just the morbid curiosity of a heartless big city crowd.

The 120,000 who visited the zoo Sunday were simply expressing the spontaneous sympathy of human beings for a fellow creature confronted by the fate that overtakes us all... the passing years and the final curtain.

My trade journal, Editor & Publisher, New York, says the Canadians think we are mad at 'em.

American publisher groups have been doing some loud and insistent griping about the price of newspaper (paper), which was $41 a delivered ton at the bottom of the 1929-33 depression, rose to $104 a ton (delivered in Hope) at the close of the war — and obstinately stays there.

Americans smell a price conspiracy on the part of the Canadian mills, but R. M. Fowler, president of the Newspaper Association of Canada, says: "The feud is entirely one-sided. You can't have lower prices and new capacity."

He goes on to say Canada could increase its production 200,000 tons a year for many years. But for two things: (1) The American themselves underestimated the amount of paper they needed last fall, causing the Canadians to cut back; and (2) American hostility about the continuing peak price has frightened away risk capital which might have expanded Canadian mill facilities.

But the one undisputed fact is that between World War I and World War II the United States production of newspaper virtually vanished as our mills along the great lakes switched to finer grades of paper — leaving Canada with virtually a monopoly on the product that newspapers have to have.

With the formula which the late Dr. Charles Herty of Savannah, Ga., perfected to make newsprint out of Southern pine a new mill was established at Lufkin, Texas, in 1940; a second was opened at Coosa River, Ala., last winter — and rumor has it that a third is planned near Prescott Ark.

This is the factor that makes Canadians sensitive to criticism — for it tends to break their monopoly, and perhaps disastrously so... for Southern pine cordwood comes a lot cheaper than the slow-growing Northern spruce which our upcountry cousins have to use.

We're not mad at Canada. We're merely protecting ourselves by doing our damndest to get out of the clutch of their monopoly. We've got the product, as you can judge for yourself — The Star has been printed for more than 10 years exclusively on Lufkin (Texas) Southern pine newsprint.

Yerger PTA Meets Today at the School

The Yerger PTA will meet in regular session Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Yerger High school. The president is asking that all parents and patrons please be present, so the group can complete important plans for the PTA Institute. This is vital to the success of the association.

Chute Catches in Plane But Frees Itself in Time

Cherry Point, N. C. June 13 — (UP)—Master Sgt. William G. Langley of Albany, N. Y., fell 1,200 feet yesterday with his parachute strap caught in the canopy of a marine fighter plane, but he wrenched free in time.

While still 800 feet in the air, for a landing. The impact sheared and floated to a landing in the Neuse river. He was fished out unhurt.

Langley's Corsair fighter had clipped a fire truck at the edge of the runway as he was coming in, tude of about 2,000 feet and bailed off one wheel and knocked out the aileron controls.

He got the plane up to an altitude of about 2,000 feet and bailed out, or rather tried to. The second jump was successful.

OIL WELL BLOWS OUT NEAR BIG SPRINGS — Jack Morris Bristow, 26, Monahans, Tex., died from burns four hours after this oil well blew out and caught fire when Bristow started to move his pick-up truck. A special crew is on the way from Houston to Big Springs, Tex., scene of the oil well fire, to work on the blaze. (NEA Telephoto)

School Bond Issue Approved, New Junior High, Negro Grade School Likely in Near Future

Little Rock, June 13 — (P)— Bond issues of $4,832,811 and loans of $433,400 to 90 Arkansas school districts were approved by the state board of education yesterday.

The bonds will be sold on the open market and the loans will be made from the state revolving loan fund. Funds will be used to finance new construction.

The bond issues and loans must be approved by local districts at the annual school elections Sept. 26. Bond issues approved include:

Arkansas county: Gillette $100,000.

Columbia county: Magnolia $100,000.

Garland county: Lake Hamilton $107,773.

Greene county: Stanford $58,000.

Hempstead county: Hope $300,000; Washington $300,000.

Miller county: North Heights $35,000.

Mississippi county: Armorette $50,000; Leachville $55,000; Manila $11,350; Shawnee $40,000.

Quachita county: Fairview $180,000; Stephens $271,000.

Phillips county: Barton $30,000.

Sebastian county: Hackett $42,500.

Union county: Norphlet $75,000.

Revolving loan fund loans approved include:

Craighead: Ray Brown $2,500; Greene county, Oak Grove $25,000; Phillips county $10,000; Washington county, Elkins $15,000; Farmington $15,000; Greenland $1,500; Prairie Grove $7,000.

The action of the Board of Education gives the Hope District the right to sell $30,000 in construction bonds. Although this sum was asked the district is not likely to use that amount but requested it to be on the safe side in event it is needed.

Sometime in the near future the district will build a new Junior High School and turn Oglesby, present Junior High School, into a fourth grammar school for Hope.

It is also tentatively planned by the board to build a new grade school for negroes and to make considerable improvement in other negro schools of the city.

The $30,000 allotted to Washington District is to be used in the Negro school program.

MacArthur May Oust British Writer

Tokyo, June 13 (P)— Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, GENERAL MacArthur's chief of staff, said today "security" and not journalism was involved in headquarters criticism of a London Times correspondent, Frank Hawley.

Hawley informed other news correspondents he was told MacArthur's headquarters considered him "persona non grata" (unacceptable).

Under existing regulations any foreign correspondent may be banned from Japan by MacArthur for violation of security. But only the secretary of defense can oust American newsmen for cause.

The British newsmen has not been ordered out of Japan nor has his filing privilege been denied.

In a statement released through the public information office of MacArthur's headquarters, Almond denied "as completely misleading and misrepresentative" statements which Hawley attributed to him when Hawley discussed the case with other correspondents.

Almond was quoted by the public information officer, Col. M. P. Echols, as saying "the conference with Mr. Hawley was not based upon criticism by him of the occupation but was directed entirely at the inaccuracy of statements contained in his dispatch of a nature tending to aid, support and encourage subversive elements among the Japanese. The question involved was one of security not journalism."

This was Almond's first direct comment on the case which began on June 8 when Hawley said the British ambassador was informed headquarters considered Hawley "persona non grata."

Hawley, in describing his conference with Almond, said the chief of staff had specifically mentioned as inaccuracies one part of a story which said the Japanese government was violating the constitution in banning demonstrations. Hawley said this opinion was supported by Japanese constitutional lawyers.

Sailor Who Chased Man, Fined $100 at West Memphis

West Memphis, June 13 — (P)— A $100 fine for disturbing the peace was levied against a sailor who chased a Memphis man onto a highway near here, where he was fatally injured by a passing car.

James F. Baldout, 24, pleaded guilty in city court yesterday. He is stationed at the Memphis naval air base. He was arrested after Harvey Wilmore, 20, ducked away from him during a fight in front of a roadhouse Sunday and was struck by a car driven by J. M. Heidel, 52, of Marianna, Ark.

Wilmore died at a Memphis hospital shortly after the accident. His friend, 19-year-old Bobbie O'Neal Harper of Memphis, was acquitted at the hearing. Harper said he was with Wilmore, but didn't know what the argument was about.

Secretary Says Soong Has Not Quit the Party

Nw York June 13 — (P)— T. V. Soong's secretary said today the former premier of China had not resigned from the Chinese Kuomintang party.

The central committee of the party announced last week from Taipei, Formosa, that it had accepted the resignation of Soong, who now is in New York. Taipei is the headquarters for Chiang Kai-shek's exiled Nationalist regime.

The secretary, C. S. Lee, said Soong had not submitted his resignation and had no intention of doing so. He indicated Soong would issue a statement within the next few days clarifying his position.

Laborites Want All Europe to Go Socialist

London, June 13 — (P)—The nation's governing Labor party called today for Britain to keep out of further programs for European political and economic union until unity-minded continental nations turn Socialist.

The strong policy statement, which rejected the Schuman plan for pooling European coal and steel which Prime Minister Attlee prepared to explain to the house of commons later today why his government is staying out of the six-nation talks on the plan June 20.

Though not an official government declaration, the party statement was seen as an answer to critics that Britain is impeding the progress of European recovery by a "go slow" attitude toward European unity proposals.

The statement, issued by the party's national executive committee, made plain that the Socialist governors fear mergers with Europe may jeopardize their welfare state program of full employment and mounting production through government planning.

It expressed the party's traditional distrust of capitalistic free enterprise.

It also emphasized that to the Laborites European unity is not "an overriding end in itself," that national sovereignty and Britain's obligations to her globe-girdling commonwealth of dollar-supplying colonies and dominions must come first.

The Laborites made clear their belief that effective operation of joint international planning required socialism in the countries participating. Such planning, they said, "means nothing" unless all industries "fit their investment program into a European plan."

"Nothing less than public ownership can insure this fully," the party statement asserted.

44 May Have Died in French Airline Crash

Paris, June 13 (P)— A four-engined Air France plane with 50 persons aboard crashed in the Persian gulf last night. After 12 hours of rescue operations, five are known dead, six have been rescued and the fate of 39 persons was in doubt.

The plane ditched in the gulf north of Bahrain island, off the east coast of Saudi Arabia. It had been due at Bahrain last night. A message to Air France headquarters in Paris today from Bahrain said the search was continuing.

Three of those who survived were members of the crew of eight. The other three were from among the 42 passengers aboard, the Saigon to Paris flight.

The plane was making a hop from Karachi, Pakistan, to Cairo, Egypt, when it was forced down in the sea.

Company officials here said they still had no details of the accident. A first message had said eight persons had been saved, but this apparently was an error. Communications with the area are sketchy.

Air and surface craft took part in the search for survivors. An Air France spokesman said here he believed a British Royal Air Force rescue unit at Bahrain had joined the search. U. S. air force officers in Cairo said from Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, presumably would join the operations if this was requested.

Milk Strike Brings State Police Patrol

Pittsburgh June 13 — (P)— State police, acting on orders from Governor James H. Duff, put reinforced patrols on the road today to protect milk truck movements in a seven-county dairy strike area.

The governor acted quickly yesterday after reports of dumping of truckloads of milk by armed pickets in the five-day-old walk-out.

The violence occurred between Vanderbilt and Flat Woods, Fayette county, and near Canonsburg, Washington county.

Truck Driver C. W. Rittenhouse reported he was halted by armed pickets at Vanderbilt.

Rittenhouse said the men forced his truck onto a side road and dumped its load of milk. Burlap bags covered license plates on the pickets' autos, he said.

Gov. Duff declared in a statement: "These were acts of criminals. They were as criminals as the act of bandits and will be treated as such."

At Greensburg, Pa., 30 miles from Pittsburgh, Sheriff Howard Bud Thomas had court authority to organize a posse to prevent any violence.

The court granted a preliminary injunction to prevent striking milk workers from adjoining counties from interfering with non-strikers in Westmoreland county.

Witnesses at the hearing on the injunction testified bands of 30 to 40 pickets roved through the county, dumping milk, threatening workers and even strewing tracks on a private highway leading to a dairy.

Union spokesmen have contended thevans no violence.

Remington Pleads Innocent to Perjury; Amerasia's Jaffe Refuses to Talk

New York, June 13 — (P)— William W. Remington, resigned government economist pleaded innocent today to a perjury indictment charging him with lying when he denied to a federal grand jury that he ever was a Communist.

Federal Judge John W. Clancy set July 5 for naming the trial date. Remington resigned from his commerce department post after being threatened with ouster proceedings.

Clancy set $5,000 bail for Remington and gave him two days to raise it.

Remington's lawyer, Bethuel Webster, told the judge that professional bondsmen have refused to post bail for the defendant because "a loyalty question is involved."

He told reporters later that 14 surety companies had been asked to put up bail for Remington and all have replied they would post bond "for prostitutes and murderers but never where loyalty is questioned."

Washington, June 13 — (P)— Senate investigators today studied the possibility of bringing contempt proceedings against Philip Jaffe for refusing to answer questions about the five-year-old Amerasia magazine case.

Jaffe was the editor of Amerasia magazine when its offices were raided by federal agents who found government documents there.

Contempt citations already have been recommended against two other witnesses who refused to answer questions put to them by members of the senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating Communist-in-government charges.

They were Earl Browder, former Communist party secretary, and Frederick Vanderbilt Field, whom Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) has called a "Soviet agent." Field denied the accusation under oath, but declined to say whether he is or ever has been a Communist.

Citations against the two were recommended by subcommittee counsel Edward P. Morgan, but no action has been taken on either.

Morgan told reporters yesterday after the subcommittee got a series of question turndowns from Jaffe behind closed doors, that he had been directed to draw up recommendations on the possibility of citing the witness for contempt.

Jaffe, acting on the advice of O. John Rogge, his attorney, was said to have declined to answer all but a few elementary questions on grounds the answers might be self-incriminating.

Morgan would not disclose his intention in the Jaffe case.

Last year the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that a congressional committee has the right to demand that a witness state whether he is a Communist, in instances where the refusal is based on the argument that congress can't inquire into political beliefs. There has been no court ruling yet on whether a witness pleading a constitutional ban against self-incrimination may refuse to answer the question.

Red-Faced Navy Offers Reward for Torpedo

Newport, R. I., June 13 — (UP)—Red-faced navy officials offered a $50 reward today for the return of a one-ton torpedo that went astray.

Capt. H. F. Goodwin, commandant of the naval torpedo station here said the $5,000 "tin fish" was lost two months ago during test firing at Gould island in Narragansett bay. He said the weapon was unnamed and that "it's really rare when we lost one."

Vote Shows Communist Hold in California

Washington, June 13 — (UP)— Surprising late returns from last week's California primary election show today that communism has sunk its roots deeply in Los Angeles.

Movietown seems to rate alongside New York as a center of Communist sympathizers.

The "Daily Worker," a Communist publication, enthusiastically calls attention to this situation in a dispatch from San Francisco dated June 11. Here are the first three paragraphs:

"With the counting still incomplete, Bernadette Doyle, Communist-endorsed candidate for the non-partisan office of state superintendent of public instruction, today had amassed the staggering total of 378,836 votes. When the final ballot in last Tuesday's primary is counted, she should break the 400,000 mark, shattering all previous records of votes cast for Communists in this state. The highest former mark was an edge over 100,000 for Anita Whitney in the late '30s."

"Miss Doyle's tally as of today represents the counting in five counties, including the three major population centers."

"Los Angeles county: Miss Doyle possessed 288,304 votes; in San Francisco county, 34,922; Alameda county (Oakland), 42,605."

Miss Doyle's showing was remarkable.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, (ALP-N.Y.) the Communists' friend, never has approached such vote totals in his successful congressional campaigns. There wouldn't be enough voters in his congressional district to come near Miss Doyle's marks.

Israel Amter was the 1938 Communist party candidate for representative-at-large in New York. He got 105,881 votes, a high for the party.

House Approva of Rent Bill Predicted

Washington, June 13 — (P)— Swift passage of legislation continuing federal rent controls on a local option basis was predicted confidently by Democratic leaders today, after the senate rammed through the compromise measure on a 38 to 28 vote.

The bill, which would keep alive the last of the major wartime controls, on approximately 8,000,000 dwelling units, mostly in big cities, would work like this:

1. The federal rent control authority, due to expire June 30, would continue for a year.
2. But the controls would cease automatically in six months, on December 31 in all communities that before that date did not decide affirmatively, through a vote of the local governing body or a referendum of the citizens, to continue the rent ceilings on to June 30, 1951.
3. Any community would vote itself out from under controls any time before December 31. No community could restore controls after they were lifted.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-ex) told President Truman he is confident the house will pass the bill, he administration had asked for a straight extension of the present law, but banking committee Chairman Spence (D-Ky), a strong administration supporter, said the compromise local option bill "in my opinion is the best we can get through the house."

Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, senior banking committee Republican, predicted the house vote will be close.

Administration leaders overrode Republican opposition yesterday to press the measure through the senate. On passage there, 30 Democrats were joined by six Republicans in support of the bill. Opposing were 23 Republicans and five southern Democrats.

Message to Parents About Polio

Summer is the chief danger period. If infantile paralysis comes near you, follow these precautions:

Practice cleanliness. Wash hands before eating, before handling food and after going to the toilet. Teach children not to exchange bites of candy or to put dirty hands or objects in their mouths. Keep flies and other insects away from food. Don't leave garbage uncovered. Good personal health habits help prevent disease from spreading.

Avoid new contacts. Try not to mingle with crowds. Local health authorities decide whether schools and other gathering places remain open. If you can help it, don't take the children to theaters, on trains, buses, boats, or beaches where they mix with strangers.

Don't get overtired. Extreme fatigue makes easier victims. Too strenuous play, late hours, irregular schedules are possible invitations to attack of polio.

Avoid chilling. Don't stay too long in cold water.

Don't swim in polluted waters. Check with your health department before you go into the water.

Get your family doctor's advice as to whether tonsil, adenoid or other mouth or throat surgery should be performed during the months when infantile paralysis appears.

Call your doctor at once if, in addition to fever, any of these symptoms appear: Headache, nausea, a cold, upset stomach, muscle soreness, or stiffness. Infantile paralysis starts in many different ways, most of them just like a lot of other childhood diseases. Be on the safe side.

Service Denies Distributing Gambling Data

Washington, June 13 — (P)— William Molasky, part owner of the Pioneer News service, denied to senate investigators today that distribution of racing news in St. Louis is controlled by the underworld.

Molasky told staff members of a special senate crime investigating committee:

"There are no gangsters, mobsters, racketeers or other persons of questionable character connected with, interested in, or employed by Pioneer news."

The highest former mark was an edge over 100,000 for Anita Whitney in the late '30s."

"Miss Doyle's tally as of today represents the counting in five counties, including the three major population centers."

"Los Angeles county: Miss Doyle possessed 288,304 votes; in San Francisco county, 34,922; Alameda county (Oakland), 42,605."

Miss Doyle's showing was remarkable.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, (ALP-N.Y.) the Communists' friend, never has approached such vote totals in his successful congressional campaigns. There wouldn't be enough voters in his congressional district to come near Miss Doyle's marks.

Israel Amter was the 1938 Communist party candidate for representative-at-large in New York. He got 105,881 votes, a high for the party.

House Approva of Rent Bill Predicted

Washington, June 13 — (P)— Swift passage of legislation continuing federal rent controls on a local option basis was predicted confidently by Democratic leaders today, after the senate rammed through the compromise measure on a 38 to 28 vote.

The bill, which would keep alive the last of the major wartime controls, on approximately 8,000,000 dwelling units, mostly in big cities, would work like this:

1. The federal rent control authority, due to expire June 30, would continue for a year.
2. But the controls would cease automatically in six months, on December 31 in all communities that before that date did not decide affirmatively, through a vote of the local governing body or a referendum of the citizens, to continue the rent ceilings on to June 30, 1951.
3. Any community would vote itself out from under controls any time before December 31. No community could restore controls after they were lifted.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-ex) told President Truman he is confident the house will pass the bill, he administration had asked for a straight extension of the present law, but banking committee Chairman Spence (D-Ky), a strong administration supporter, said the compromise local option bill "in my opinion is the best we can get through the house."

Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, senior banking committee Republican, predicted the house vote will be close.

Administration leaders overrode Republican opposition yesterday to press the measure through the senate. On passage there, 30 Democrats were joined by six Republicans in support of the bill. Opposing were 23 Republicans and five southern Democrats.

Message to Parents About Polio

Summer is the chief danger period. If infantile paralysis comes near you, follow these precautions:

Practice cleanliness. Wash hands before eating, before handling food and after going to the toilet. Teach children not to exchange bites of candy or to put dirty hands or objects in their mouths. Keep flies and other insects away from food. Don't leave garbage uncovered. Good personal health habits help prevent disease from spreading.

Avoid new contacts. Try not to mingle with crowds. Local health authorities decide whether schools and other gathering places remain open. If you can help it, don't take the children to theaters, on trains, buses, boats, or beaches where they mix with strangers.

Don't get overtired. Extreme fatigue makes easier victims. Too strenuous play, late hours, irregular schedules are possible invitations to attack of polio.

Avoid chilling. Don't stay too long in cold water.

Don't swim in polluted waters. Check with your health department before you go into the water.

Get your family doctor's advice as to whether tonsil, adenoid or other mouth or throat surgery should be performed during the months when infantile paralysis appears.

Call your doctor at once if, in addition to fever, any of these symptoms appear: Headache, nausea, a cold, upset stomach, muscle soreness, or stiffness. Infantile paralysis starts in many different ways, most of them just like a lot of other childhood diseases. Be on the safe side.

Service Denies Distributing Gambling Data

Washington, June 13 — (P)— William Molasky, part owner of the Pioneer News service, denied to senate investigators today that distribution of racing news in St. Louis is controlled by the underworld.

Molasky told staff members of a special senate crime investigating committee:

"There are no gangsters, mobsters, racketeers or other persons of questionable character connected with, interested in, or employed by Pioneer news."

West Coast Atom Defense Inadequate

San Francisco, June 13 — (AP) — Civilian leaders and military experts are agreed the West Coast's defense against atomic warfare is inadequate.

They disagree on who is to blame. The civilians say the federal government and military are at fault. The military blame the civilians.

That plus ominous warnings of the effects of atom bombing — was the tenor of a two-day conference opened here yesterday, with the leaders of Pacific Coast cities or their representatives in attendance.

The conference was called by Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco, who has charged the government with failing to provide adequate information for civilian defense in case of an attack. Robinson noted yesterday West Coast cities represented at the meeting have a total population of nearly 5,000,000 and "all are within approximately 10 hours flying time of the nearest Soviet air base."

Dr. L. C. W. M. Hines, sixth corps planning officer, declared many municipalities had fallen down on their civilian planning efforts, he said.

Of the large bay area cities, Hines pointed out an organization called "Coastal Defense" had been set up to coordinate efforts of the military.

Added to this divergence of views was a gloomy picture by a medical expert who inspected the world's first atomic-bombed cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Dr. Stafford Warren, dean of the medical school at the University of Los Angeles in California, said 10 atom bombs could wipe out any city along the Pacific coast.

Midwest Lashed by Windstorms and Ruins

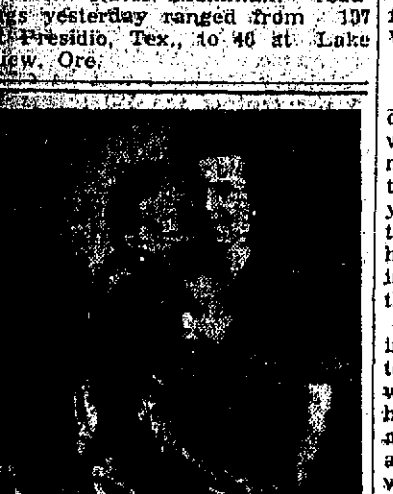

By The Associated Press
Rains and windstorms hit over midwest areas today but the rest of the country had fair weather.

Winds of near tornadoic violence struck in eastern North Dakota tonight, causing thousands of dollars' damage to buildings, crops and communication lines. No casualties were reported.

The midwest wet belt covered areas in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Michigan. Strong shifting winds accompanied the thunderstorms in some areas. A gust to 75 miles an hour was reported at Madison, Wis. More than 10 inches of rain fell at Madison and La Crosse, Wis.

There also were a few showers in the northern Rockies.

Temperatures generally were above normal over the central states and a little below seasonal levels in the middle Atlantic and Pacific coastal areas. Mile weather continued in the eastern and southern states. Maximum readings yesterday ranged from 107 at Presidio, Tex., to 46 at Lake View, Ore.

Mrs. Elder

Mrs. Thelma Elder, 708 Bryon Street, S. E., Atlanta, Georgia, is 20 years old and the mother of three small children. For a time, she thought that her duties as a mother and housewife were just too much for her to handle. She had no idea that she did not feel like doing anything. Then, she heard the blessed news about HADACOL and life again seems worth living.

Mrs. Elder was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, B6, and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is her statement: "My stomach had been bothering me and I did not have any energy. My back bothered me and I did not feel like doing anything. There were times when I did not know any more. I started taking HADACOL and it has done me so much good. I have been taking it for several months and my stomach is doing fine. I feel good, and have lots of energy and my back is all right. I surely do praise HADACOL — it has done so much good for me."

Thousands of Doctors have prescribed HADACOL for their patients. Have requested quantities of HADACOL for their own clinical use and for their own families. The fact that HADACOL is scientifically formulated, compounded with precious Vitamins and Minerals in liquid form, help to account for its increasing acceptance by doctors.

Make up your mind to take HADACOL regularly. Refuse substitutes. Insist on the genuine. There is only one HADACOL. You can't get a fake, because it's sold on the strict money-back guarantee. You'll find great with the first bottle. It's the only one that's so good. Only $1.25 for Trial size. Save 50¢ on Regular size.

DOROTHY DIX Vacation From Mate

Dear Miss Dix: I am trying to find out whether I really love my husband or not. After several months of marriage we are beginning to find fault with each other and get into arguments about away from him for one month away from him for one month out of every year in order to fully appreciate him. My mother and his think that I am crazy to feel that way but I do. So what's to be done about it? Is there such a thing as needing a change from the one you love?

Answer: Certainly there is such a thing as needing a change from those we love, and if not only husbands and wives but the different members of a family took vacations from each other every now and then, it would do more than any other one thing to promote happiness and take the curse off domestic life.

For, no matter how fond we are of people, we get fed up on them if we have a steady diet of them, day after day and year after year. They bore us to tears because we know everything they are going to say before they say it. All of their little peculiarities get on our nerves until we feel that we will scream at them if they rattle a newspaper or drink their coffee or break an egg.

Need Rest From Children
Even mothers should take vacations from their children, for their own sake and for the children's sake. When a woman loses interest in her housekeeping and slaps any sort of old meal on the table, and when she begins to nag at the children and say "don't" to everything they do, it only means that she is surfeited with domesticity, and she needs a change and to get away from her family. Let her go off for two weeks and she come back full of pep and new recipes for good pies, and she thinks the angels instead of brats, and her home seems the dearest place to her instead of the prison it was before she went away.

As for husbands and wives, it is absolutely necessary that they should separate sometimes if they are to continue to live together in peace to their golden wedding day. The preventive in the world of divorce is a railroad or steamship ticket, and if more husbands would take it when indicated it would save many a home from being broken up.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I have been married six months and are quite happy except for one thing. My husband has two younger brothers, both grown, who make our home theirs. They come and go whenever they please and especially at mealtime. They even come when we are not at home and sit by the fire and play the radio. I don't think this is right, as my husband makes a very low salary. I tried to freeze them by being very cool, but it made my husband mad and he said I was selfish and should be ashamed, but I feel I married him, not them. What should I do?

Answer: Feeding two extra men does put a strain upon your budget when you have to count every penny. So I think it is nothing but fair that you should tell the brothers you cannot afford company, and that if they want to come to your house they must compensate you in some way, either by paying for their meal or by bringing the food. There is no doubt that grafting relatives who find it cheaper to drop in for a meal on anybody who happens to be kin to them, rather than go to a hotel or restaurant are one of the great pests of life and one that is difficult to deal with. But they will eat you out of house and home if you have them run of their teeth, and so you have to deal with them firmly.

But barring the food proposition I think your attitude toward your husband's brothers is wrong. Evidently you want to monopolize him and cut him off from his family, and a wife does that at her peril.

Because a man gets married he does not automatically cease loving his own family or enjoy being with them, and he resents it very much when his wife cold-shoulders them out of the house. It humiliates him, for it shows that he is not the head of his house if he dares not invite his family to see him.

Dear Miss Dix: Before our baby came we had enough money to get along on but this expense was so great that our bank account has dwindled. We are continually worried as we are on edge that we quarrel over everything. The only solution of the problem I can see would be for me to get a job. That would help my husband and relieve the tension we live under but what about the baby? Will it be fair to leave her in the care of a maid?

Answer: I do not think that any mother should leave her children to care of the servants if she can possibly take care of them herself, but in case of necessity, such as yours seems to be, it may be the best thing to do. As long as she is a tiny baby you can leave her far better than you can later on. Then when she is beginning to understand and learn, she will need your influence and training, your hand to fashion her character but while she is still in the cradle all she needs is physical care, which any reliable, intelligent woman can give her.

Truman to Give Data on Gambling

Washington, June 13 — (AP) — President Truman was reported today to be ready to open a great store of information to a special senate committee investigating bit-time gambling and crime.

By executive order, the President is expected to give senators access to confidential income tax returns and other government information on known and suspected underworld figures.

Mr. Truman has promised the committee full cooperation and Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told reporters he looks for the executive order to be issued at any time.

This morning the committee's staff was called to meet behind closed doors to question William Molasky, part owner of the Pioneer News service which distributes horse racing news in and around St. Louis.

Molasky volunteered to testify after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch referred to him as an "overlord" of racing news distribution and disclosed he and his wife held more than $300,000 worth of Western Union stock.

Missouri Attorney General J. E. Taylor told a senate commerce subcommittee last month that such distribution units as Pioneer are controlled by a syndicate which in turn is controlled "by a vicious criminal element."

Predicts House Will Pass Rent Bill

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 13 — (AP) — We'll know quickly whether we're going to keep federal rent controls.

They're due to die in another 17 days — June 30 — unless both houses of congress vote to keep them longer.

The senate yesterday did just that. The house was to tackle the problem today. If the house votes "no," the controls then die June 30.

The senate approved keeping the controls another six months beyond June 30, or until Dec. 31. Then under the senate bill — which is the same bill the house will take up — all federal rent controls die Dec. 31 everywhere except —

In any town or city which wants to keep them longer. In that case federal controls will remain on that city or town until June 30, 1951.

But such a town or city will have to act to keep them. That is, by a vote of the city's governing body or a vote of the people there.

Last April President Truman asked congress to continue the controls at least a full year beyond June 30, 1950.

On the opposite side of the fence were those who wanted all federal controls to die June 30.

So the bill approved by the senate yesterday was a compromise between those two viewpoints: Six months more of controls, at least, instead of a full year more or none at all.

Even if both houses vote continuance, federal controls will apply only in 40 states.

The following eight states have either eliminated federal controls, by their own action, permitted under present law, or soon will do so:

Wisconsin, New York, Alabama, Virginia, Nebraska, Texas, Utah and Arizona. New York and Wisconsin passed their own rent control laws.

Rent controls were started in 1942 and reached a peak in 1946 when 16,000,000 dwelling units were under control.

Since then half of them, or 8,000,000 units, have been decontrolled.

The bill which the senate passed yesterday was recommended to it by the senate banking and currency committee.

This committee studied the rent control problem and on June 6 issued a report to the full committee, suggesting controls be kept.

It said: "After careful study of all the testimony, your committee has concluded that the housing shortage growing out of the dislocations of World War II is still acute in so many communities throughout the nation as to constitute a national emergency requiring the continuation of federal rent control for a further limited period."

By the middle of 1950 only 249 incorporated localities had exercised their right to decontrol themselves, under the present law which ends June 30. Well over 3,000 incorporated places have not chosen to decontrol themselves and have remained under federal control.

It is generally assumed that rent control is needed only in the larger cities, yet rent control boards in over 500 communities under 25,000 population recently advised the expediter (boss of the rent control program) that housing shortages still existed in their communities and urged him not to decontrol their areas.

The committee then concluded that in another year there'll be very few states in which the housing shortage will be so acute that

Dr. Sander Files for Reinstatement

Concord, N. H., June 13 — (AP) — Dr. Hermann N. Sander may know within two or three weeks whether he will be allowed to practice medicine again in New Hampshire.

His application for reinstatement was filed yesterday with the New Hampshire medical board. It was presented seven days prior to the earliest date the board had said it would entertain a petition.

Dr. J. Paul Dye board president, confirmed receipt of the application but said no action is contemplated for two or three weeks.

The five-man board stripped the 42-year-old physician of his right to practice on April 19, six days after a Hillsboro county jury acquitted him of murder in the air injection death of Abbie Borroto.

Dr. Sander, 38, an incurable cancer patient, "failed to meet the requirements of morality imposed upon him by his profession."

Ralph E. Langdell, counsel for Dr. Sander, said the reinstatement application was filed early to hasten consideration by the board.

Dr. Dye said he would not predict officially what action the board would take. He added, however, that it looked favorable as the board had left the door open by permitting Dr. Sander to apply for reinstatement within two months.

Three Manchester hospitals dropped Dr. Sander after the board's action. One was the Hillsboro county hospital where Mrs. Borroto died last Dec. 4.

The others, Sacred Heart and Notre Dame, Catholic hospitals, dropped him for life. He had courtesy privileges at those institutions.

UAW Gives Support to Gosser

Detroit, June 13 — (AP) — CIO United Auto Workers vice president Richard T. Gosser, center of an internal storm in Toledo labor politics, was given a clean bill of health today by the union's top leadership.

At the same time the union charged that an "employer-organized and employer-financed" campaign against the UAW was involved in the Toledo dispute.

Previously, the UAW had ousted one Gosser subordinate at Toledo and had ordered a group of striking UAW office employees to return to work.

The UAW's 23-man executive board, after long hearings and discussions that extended in, early this morning, cleared Gosser of any wrongdoing. Gosser had been accused by a Toledo insurgent group of "dictatorship" in the 30,000-member Toledo UAW local.

These allegations, said the board, were "reckless and irresponsible, based on rumor, gossip and hearsay and unsubstantiated by supporting evidence." It said Gosser was the "target" for a "slandering smear attack."

The board's report concurred that Gosser's insistence on an areawide pension plan in Toledo touched off an "employer-organized and employer-financed" campaign against the UAW and its leadership.

It further claimed that "members of a minority political caucus opposed to vice President Gosser joined the employers in their attack."

Miss Jeanette Galloway was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She chose a grey dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

Clyde Turner served the bridegroom as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip, after which they will make their home in Fayetteville.

where Mr. Boyce is attending the University of Arkansas for his B S degree.

WCSA Meets
At Church
The Womens Society of Christian

Service met Monday at 3 p. m. at the First Methodist church with Mrs. F. C. Crow, president, presiding. The meeting opened with the group prayer and hymn.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Charles Harrell, the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. H. O. Kyles, who also reported on the meeting of the executive committee held June 9 at the home of Mrs. Crow at which time, Mrs. Syd McMath, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, and Mrs. A. E. Patton were appointed on the Finance committee.

Mrs. R. T. White gave a report of the Finance committee and submitted a yearly budget which was accepted by the group. Circle Three led the Circle count. Mrs. Leon Bundy gave interesting reports of the Christian Social Relations and made a request for Children's clothing for the Masonic Hall for Children at Booneville.

The group voted to meet at four o'clock during the hot summer months of July, August, and September. Mrs. White and Mrs. L. W. Young were appointed a committee to purchase China for the church dining room.

"The Light Has Come" was the theme of the devotional read by Mrs. Claude Tillery which was closed with the prayer hymn, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee". Mrs. Carl Jones, of Circle 5, presented Mrs. Ed Galloway, who gave a report on the District meeting in Nashville, by outlining the goals of the WCSA, and reported the 33 societies with 1200 members in the Hope District. At that meeting, Mrs. Stith Davenport, of Hope was elected Secretary of the Children's Work. The meeting was closed with the WCSA benediction.

Ione Greene
To Wed
Earl Bashaw

Mrs. and Mrs. D. G. Greene of this city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ione Estelle, to Frances Earl Bashaw of Pittsfield, Mass.

Miss Greene is a graduate of Hope High School, and Chillicothe Business College, Chillicothe, Mo. She is presently employed at Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Bashaw is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lawrence Bashaw of Ludington, Mich. He was graduate from Ludington High School and received his degree in Electrical Engineering from Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich. He served in the army during World War II, and is now employed with the General Electric Company in Pittsfield.

The wedding will take place in August at Fort Lincoln Chapel, Washington, D. C.

The bride wore a Dance original gown of white taffeta designed with a portrait neckline, cap sleeves, and fitted basque waist. The very full skirt of ruffles was ankle length. Her fingertip veil of lace was attached to a tulle of white taffeta edged in lace, and tiny orange blossoms. A gold cross centered with a diamond was the bride's only ornament which was a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a modified cascade bouquet of white carnations, and stephanotis centered with a purple-lipped white orchid.

She was preceded to the altar by her maid of honor Miss Betty Silvey of Stamps, who wore mint green taffeta with matching taffeta hat, and mits. Her cascade bouquet of gardenias was showered with satin streamers.

William Johnson of Stamps was the bridegroom's best man.

An apricot linen suit with navy accessories was worn by Mrs. Baker mother of the bride. Her flowers were a corsage of aqua carnations.

Mrs. L. A. Baker, of Stamps, paternal grandmother of the bride, wore a navy crepe dress with pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. In the dining room, an arrangement of giant shasta daisies and Queen Anne's lace flanked by white tapers in crystal branched candelabra was reflected in the mirror over the buffet.

The table covered with a white net floor length, ruffled cloth was edged with ivy in the double ruffle, and centered with a cut glass bowl of Regal lilies, and Queen Anne's lace. White tapers in prism crystal holders lighted the table.

Mrs. Seth Baker of Stamps, presided at the two tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. The frosted green punch was served by Miss Norma Clair Puska of Stamps.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy presided at the brides book, and dispensing hospitalities were Mrs. Elmer Murphy, Mrs. Edwin Ward, and Mrs. Hollis Luck, cousin of the bride. All members of the house party wore corsages of gardenias.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Mississippi, and along the Gulf coast to Florida she was wearing a lilac suit of linen with white and navy accessories, and the orchid from her bouquet.

The bride who has made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. L. A. Baker in Stamps, is a graduate of the Stamps High School.

Rehearsal Dinner Held in Home of
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ward

A rehearsal dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ward Saturday evening at seven prior to rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Mary Catherine Baker, and Jack Mitchell Warmack.

The Ward home was attractive throughout with spring flowers at vantage points. The buffet in the dining room held an arrangement and Queen Anne's lace with branched candelabra of crystal burning white tapers.

A white embroidered linen cloth covered the long table and held a miniature bride encircled with gardenias, and white tapers in crystal holders. Miniature brides bouquet of tiny gardenias, lace, and white streamers were attached to the white bridal place cards.

The bride's place was marked with a corsage of gardenias.

A delicious four course dinner was served to the following: the bride and bridegroom-elect, Miss Betty Silvey, Stamps, William Johnson, Stamps; Miss Linda Hennigan, Baytown, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Murphy, Miss Dabney Murphy, Arlington, Texas; Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, Reverend J. W. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Luck, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ward.

The couple chose this time to present members of their wedding party with their gifts.

Ruth Catherine Baker and Jack Womack Are United in Marriage

In evening nuptials performed by candlelight Sunday, June 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Luck on East Second Street, Miss Ruth Catherine Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walz Baker of Baytown, Texas, became the bride of Jack Mitchell Womack, of Council Grove, Kansas son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Womack of Havana, Florida.

The Reverend J. Wayne Mann, pastor of Methodist church at Waldo, read the impressive single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar in front of the fireplace which was banked with huckleberry fern. On the mantel was a beautiful fan shaped arrangement of white gladioli, and feverfew and on each side were three white tapers in white mantel candelabra entwined with plumosa fern. Floor baskets of white gladioli, feverfew and huckleberry, and the mellow light of many white tapers burning in wrought-iron candelabra, entwined with plumosa fern, completed the wedding scene.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, pianist, played "Liebestraum" by Liszt, and while the candles were being lighted by Miss Linda Hennigan of Baytown, Mrs. Hyatt played "I Love Thee" by Grieg. Miss Hennigan was gown in cinnamon nylon and wore wristlets of feverfew.

Miss Dabney Murphy, soloist, and a cousin of the bride, wore and impetuous organically gown of blush pink and a corsage of aqua carnations. She sang "Because" by D' Hardelot, and "At Dawning" by Mrs. Hyatt who played "Clair de Lune" during the ceremony.

As the couple knelt for the nuptial blessing on the white prieu, Miss Murphy sang "The Lords Prayer".

The bride wore a Dance original gown of white taffeta designed with a portrait neckline, cap sleeves, and fitted basque waist. The very full skirt of ruffles was ankle length. SMEAR CAMPAIGN

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

I
THE auburn-haired girl raced across the tennis court on legs like long tanned scissor-blades. She just managed to get her racket on Miss Graydon's scorching return.
Then from deep in the corner
she brought off an almost impossible shot. The ball cleared the net with a scant inch to spare, a little white rocket exploding at Miss Graydon's feet. Miss Graydon's shoulders moved helplessly and she shook her head.

She'd had never a chance with that one.

The point gave the auburn-haired girl another game. Miss Graydon, beaten ignominiously on her own service, began baiting balls to her opponent.

Bill Jarvis, on the fringes of the spectators, clapped decorously.
It didn't occur to him, at the moment, that he was practically a one-man cheering section. He did not notice the asides and glances that passed between the young women who watched the match.

A sunken from the Inn—Lookout Crest Inn where, Bill had been scandalized to learn, rates started at $25 a day—had propelled an old lady's wheeled chair to a point from which she could comfortably view the finals of the intra-mural tennis tournament.

The ancient one had sat quiescent near Bill while Miss Graydon, a determined but outclassed spinster-type, took an unholy shellacking.

Now, however, she spoke.
"Well, young man," her voice was unexpectedly strong, "I'm glad somebody's got the decency to give that girl a hand."

The old woman's eyes were like steel bullets. Their awareness, aliveness, contrasted strangely with cheeks withered like prunes and old lips rather ridiculously rouged.

"Oh," he said, somewhat startled, "I thought she rated it. Darn good shot."

"She made good shots all along.
And received only a smattering of applause, as she feels says. But" —disapproval thinned that surprisingly able tone—"let the Graydon female win a point and they fall all over themselves. This is a partisan crowd, young man."

"I take it," said Bill, "that this wasn't a popular win."
The older snorted, "I should say not."

"Why's that, now? I'd have figured..."

HE checked it. He'd spoken in that half-interested half-tolerant manner one frequently adopts toward a seven-year-old. But he faced something at least 77.

"That a good-looking girl like Hildy Sands would have the crowd with her, eh? Well, before I tell you why she hasn't, if I do, we'll see the finish of this match."

During the talk, the redhead had aced her first service. She changed courts.

The bright-haired Hildy Sands tossed up a ball. A blistering smash, gold as gold, raising a white chalk-puff at Miss Graydon's service line. The ball crashed against the backstop, shivering the wire.

The old lady chuckled. "Know what that reminds me of? Helen Wills, one time years ago. The gallery was all against her. But she just gave that gallery the horse laugh and stuck 'em in, the way that girl's doing. I like her."

"You were going to tell me why —er, about her." Bill hesitated slightly. He had no real curiosity about Hildy Sands. As guest of a guest, so to speak, at Lookout

Asides and glances passed between the young women who watched the tennis match.

Crest—and engaged to his host's daughter—his interests were definitely elsewhere.

BEFORE he could get an answer, Hildy Sands won set and match. Instantly she ran to the net, extended an impulsive hand.
Bill thought Miss Graydon slow in advancing to shake that hand.

"Well, that's that." The spectators, melting away, distracted the old lady's attention. "Run up to the Inn, will you, young man?"

And send back one of those bell-hops, that I've never yet seen hop, to push me!"

Bill laughed. "I'll push you myself, Mrs. —"

"Faster, Mrs. Jake Fasker."
The shrewd light-gray eyes twinkled at him. "Never heard of me, have you?"

"Well, no," Bill confessed.

"On the other hand," said Mrs.
Fasker, as he began wheeling her,
"you may have, indirectly. Though I don't suppose Rosemary Phoebe Collins' means anything to your generation."

Bill said cautiously: "Sure, it does. She wrote books. My mother reads them. Or used to."

"Humph! Questionable literary tastes, that mother of yours has.
But Rosemary Phoebe Collins wrote books, all right. I ought to know. Seeing I'm her, or is it
'she'? Never could get that straight. But I ground out 40 novels and not a one of 'em fit to light the fire with." Mrs. Fasker humphed again, prodigiously.

"Sentimental drivel! 'Penelope and Primroses,' 'Lucky Louisa Lane.' How do you like those?
When all the time I wanted to write the Ring Lardner or Damon Runyon or that Hammett, maybe."

Bill grinned. He was enjoying this forthright elderly individual.
"Now Mrs. Fasker! Don't tell me you were thwarted."

"Was in one way. Not in another. I made about a million out of that slush, young man. Used to kid the ears of Fasker. He's dead, poor soul. But he was in the canned fruit business and all he could gather out of it was a couple hundred thousand. I was the family financial wizard. But what hogwash!"

"Still write?" Bill asked.

"No, sir, I'm retired. Nothing but an arthritic old gossip. It's fun, though. You wouldn't believe what we half-petrified fogies kick around between us at a summer hotel. And the things we get to know! I know, for instance, that you only came last night—that you're a Bill Jarvis—that you're engaged to the pretty dark-haired Coulter girl—that her father's your boss—and that you're here for a week of your vacation. Nice going, Bill. It's smart to marry the boss's daughter."

Bill gaped down into intricately-coiffured white hair. But then, he thought, no miracles had been passed. The Coulters had simply told Mrs. Fasker about him.

"By the way," Mrs. Fasker inquired, "where is Beverly? Your fiancee, I mean."

"Oh, she doesn't like tennis.
Said she'd have a nap while I watched the match."

"You're probably wondering why I let myself go about the Sands girl?"

"A little," he admitted.

Mrs. Fasker waited a second.
Then: "As I said, I'm a gossip nowadays. But I don't dish dirt, Bill Jarvis. Unless there's sufficient reason. You, however, look like a good guy. Fact is, yourself and myself and the Coulter family, I think, are about the only good guys in this plush-lined hostel. The rest are a pack of snobs. And, for my money, you could also spell that with an 'S'.
Slobs!"

"I don't get you, exactly," Bill said.

"You will. But you'd get something else from somebody else sooner or later. With a malicious twist on it, no doubt. So I'll tell you first. Because I'm sorry for Hilda Sands and I'd like you to be nice to her, if you have a chance."

"Well, sure. Why wouldn't I be?"

MRS. FASKER screwed her head around and looked up. "I think you would. But most of them aren't. You see, some kind —and unknown—soul has spread it around that Hilda's father is a jailbird."

Bill whistled. "Why would anyone want to hurt the girl?"

The old lady shrugged. "I don't actually know. But I suspect that Hildy Sands is just too attractive and—well, generally good to suit the rest of the women here. You may have noticed, Bill, that there's a preponderance of females at the hotel. Personable gentlemen, like yourself, are pretty scarce. You'll probably be torn limb from limb, though you are promised to Bevely Coulter."

Strike Halts New York Publications

By The Associated Press

A strike today halted publication of the New York World-Telegram and Sun large evening daily news-paper.

Television scheduled of the Columbia Broadcasting system were altered by a walkout of 400 technicians in New York and Hollywood Monday night.

The milk strikes in Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh, Pa., continued with state police patrolling a seven county area in western Pennsylvania after milk-dumping were reported.

At Morristown, Tenn., state police considered allowing pickets to return to the vicinity of the American Enka Corp. plant, scene of a violence-punctuated 11-week strike by CIO textile workers.

These were the principal developments on the nation's strike fronts.

The strike against the World-Telegram and Sun, one of New York's largest evening papers with a reported circulation of 600,000, was called by the CIO American news-paper guild in a wage dispute.

Nearly 400 editorial and office employees launched the strike at 4:30 a. m. (EST) and set up a picket line which AFL printers refused to cross. The paper missed its first edition they could publish.

The union has demanded a 10 per cent wage increase, with minimums to range from $40 a week for office boys to $120 for news-men with six years' experience. The present top is $110. The World-Telegram and Sun offered general increases of from $2 to $5 weekly and increases of $1 to $3.50 in minimum scales to make the top minimum $113.50 weekly.

Other issues were involved, including shorter work weeks, security, union preference in hiring, arbitration of staff reductions, night differentials and holidays.

The strike affecting CBS television shows caused substitutions last night for six scheduled programs, including two leading features, "The Goldbergs," and "Studio One."

It stemmed from negotiations involving nearly 600 members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in New York, Hollywood, San Francisco and Washington D. C. The issues are wages, working conditions and security. The IBEW asked raises which would lift beginning salaries from $650 to $70 a week and salaries of those with five years' employment records from $125.50 to $145 weekly.

Capons are specialty trailers roosters which grow to more than average size and produce choice meat.

Muffelt Spells Trouble to Pine Bluff

By The Associated Press
Monroe's Billy Muffelt doesn't own one of the best records in the Cotton States league, but he does have one distinction—he has shutout the hard-hitting Pine Bluff Judges twice.

He did it the second time this season last night with a 2-0 job to pull the Sports back into second place. Hot Springs, which went three percentage points into second Sunday, dropped a half game back by splitting a twin bill with Natchez 6-3 and 2-3.

Fourth-place Greenwood remained in shooting distance of the top by slugging El Dorado 11-1 and Greenville plastered Clarksdale 8-3.

Tom Graham limited Monroe to six hits but the Sports managed to bunch them, while Muffelt kept the eight Pine Bluff bingles safely scattered.

Leftfielder Don Tierney won the first game for Hot Springs with a three-run homer in the seventh inning at Natchez. He almost won the second the same way, but the second blow was a double and the two runs it produced spoiled a shutout for Indian hurler Don Rodd.

Greenwood's Charley Rugg scattered four El Dorado hits for his eighth win of the season. The Dodgers pounded southpaw Roy Outen for 14 hits.

Greenville was outthit, but made use of extra base blows, including homers by Wally Buerger and Joe Rullo, in downing Clarksdale.
Fred Bates gave the Planter's eight hits, but rationed them while the Bucks were cashing in their seven off George Locher.

Games today:
Hot Springs at Natchez
Pine Bluff at Monroe
El Dorado at Greenwood
Greenville at Clarksdale.

Harris, Ross Hurl Hope Over Springhill

Displaying their best spirit of the season, the Legionnaires came from behind to tie the score and to go 4-4 and post a 5-3 Southwest League win over Springhill at Springhill last night. Gilson Ross registered his first triumph of the year on the mound as he tossed a hope he hit three inning stint.

Hope began rather drap, but suddenly they perked up and tied the score in the seventh with a trio of triples and won it in the eighth with a brace of runs. It was Gilson Ross' first working assignment in a league game and he handled it like he was born there. Only two men reached base against his steady hurling.

Bill Harris began on the hill for Hope and he probably set some sort of record by committing five balks in the game, three in one inning. Calvin Craig worked Harris for a base on balls to lead off the game. He advanced to second Craig then took third on another balk. Bob White handled Dug New-son's grounder perfectly to hold Craig at third, but threw wide at first. Newsom stole second, and Craig tallied on Duchaney's outfield fly. Newsom also scored later as Bud White tossed into left field attempting a pickoff play behind the plate.

In the sixth Springhill shoved ahead 3-0 as Larry Singleton was safe on an error at third. Singleton was forced at second by A. C.
Courtney. Courtney went to second on another balk by Harris, went to third on a single by Durham and scored on an outfield error.

The seventh was showdown time for Hope. Bill Harris leadoff with a single and Gary Anderson followed right behind him with another one. Ridding flyed to left but Gilson Ross blasted a tremendous smash off the right center field barrier that went for a triple and two runs. Ross scored a moment later with the tying run on Bud White's single.

In the eighth the Legionnaires blew the lid off. C. Kennedy was safe as right fielder Castleberry muffed his fly. Roy Taylor sent him to third with a solid double down the right field line. With one out Anderson drew a walk to load the bases and that was the end of the show as far as Terry Collie was concerned and Bill Hern came on to relieve him. Hern immediately uncorked and inside pitch that popped riding on the leg for winning run. Taylor scored a moment later on a fielders choice infield grounder. Although the run scored when Hern was in the mound the tallies were charged to Collie because he put them on bases. Collie was the loser.

Wednesday night in Legion Field the Camden Kraftsmen and the Legionnaires make up a rained out League game. Friday evening Springhill comes to Hope for the second of this two game series.
